gathering around us and supporting us, and I felt we could do My such a great work for the Lord. The last 3 years, I was more and more feeling as if my life was being quite wasted. In fact a year or so before his death, I was just about almost ready to leave.
Though I never mentioned it to Dr. Machen. Then, after his death, and then of course they had started a new denomination whichthey called the Presbyterian Church of America. The new one is the Presbyterian Church in America. They started that. The Presbyterian Church U.S.A. brought suit against them and made them change the name, so they changed it to Orthosox Presbyterian Church later. They started that church and then the thing came--- the last semester it came right prominently, you see. Then they had this new denomination started which Dr. Allis said, Any split over the Independent Board issue will be onlya splinter. Dr. Allis resigned the year before.
I have not gone into that now.

They invited me to preach in their church in West Philadelphia on a certain date. The man who was a recent graduate who me was acting as pastor of that church, preached in the a.m. on the second coming of Christ. So I said, I'll preach on the Millennials --- the Premillennial Kingdom of Christ. I forget the title, but anyway

I took what the students were giving me of what these people were saying against premillennialism; I took all their arguments, and put them together and answered them in my sermon. When I gave the subject, the fellow changed the morning subject which disappointed I gave it, me/ And all the faculty except one were there. I preached 60 minutes. I don't think VanTil caught on to it. The millennial question was out of his perview to quite an extent. In fact, he said he agreed with everything I said until I got practically to the end. They straightened him out on that. (Recorder was turned off here?????)
