

trains would come in, and when the trains go out, and that if you are going to make any use of these train, it is a mighty good thing for you to learn something about the plans connected with the place, or else you might go there just a half an hour too late for you train and sit around all day and not get anywhere. Some people look at life as if a person were to go to a station like that and they would see the trains come in and they would start making notations, and they would notice that a trains leaves N Y. for Washington at a certain time. Then they'd see a train leave N. Y. for Chicago at a certain time, and they'd try to make a calculation, try to make a reasonable basis so they can understand when these trains are going to go, how it works, and they'd study it for a few days, and they'd get the system worked out, and just about the time they thought they had it well-understood, after six days, they'd go in there the seventh day, and the trains didn't rund according to that syst~~e~~m at all. Some of them left too early some too late, and some didn't run at all. It was on a Sunday schedule. Well, after a while they figure out the week day schedule, and the Sunday schedule and they'd get a system pretty well worked out, and then, all of sudden daylight saving time goes off, and the whole schedule is changed around, and all their work is useless. If they wanted to learn how to get the trains, and the time they wanted to get them, the way to do it, would be to find out, to get a revelation, a communication from the mind that is conducting that station, and planning that railroad, get a time-table in other words. And that time-table would tell you more about the weekday trains and the sunday trains and the holiday trans, and how long this schedule is going to be in effect, ^{Plan} and you gould figure out in study and research and work there for a very very long time. You see there are many ~~thing~~ things in life that we learn by research and by study, and it is the only way to learn, but there are other things that we have to learn by getting a revelation from the one who knows. Getting a communication from the one that planned it and knows what it is for. Now in life we find that everyone of us comes into this world, finds situations around us that we don't understand, we study them, and try to understand them, but when it comes to know what it all means, what the purpose of our life is, what is going to happen when it is over, where did we come from, where are we going to? There is no way any of us can find that out
