

about them more, the primacy of the kingdom of God, the importance of His will being done. And of its being done in our own lives. And in the lives of those with whom we deal. It is certainly something that he wants us to meditate upon every time we pray. And we pray with fervency and with sincerity and with zeal, that it may come to pass. But I don't want to glance at the prayer as a whole, and so I want to go on this morning to look at the latter part of this prayer as well as the former. And you notice that though these statements about the primacy about the kingdom of God and our Father's name being hallowed, are the beginning of the prayer, more statements are given in the prayer to the things of our lives than ~~are~~ <sup>are</sup> given to these. These are primary, they are basic, they are fundamental, ~~but~~ without them we have nothing, God is interested in us and He wants us to bring our personal needs to Him. The finest of wonderful prayers that we pray, that are forms, if we think of their meaning they have great blessing for us, but He wants us to get down to cases and take our own particular personal problems, and bring them to Him. He wants to be interested in us. Not a sparrow falls to the ground, without ~~the~~ His interest, without His knowledge, and He wants us to know that He is anxious that we bring all our problems to Him in prayer and be looking to Him for help in them. So we find that more than half of the prayer is taken up with our personal situation which is the thing that affects us most directly, and should be (10 1/4) in our prayers.

And so he goes ~~on to give~~ on: "give us this day our daily bread. What an ordinary everyday sort of thing, He is interested in the smallest detail of our lives, He is interested in the little things, He is interested in the things that are necessary to our lives, and yet you notice, if you're looking at the Greek, you notice, that this 11th verse is a very difficult verse. Give us this day our daily bread, the word translated daily is (10 3/4) and where else did you ever find translated daily?

Well, you can answer where else do you ever find it translated any other way. Because the fact of the matter is ~~there is only the verse~~ <sup>that it only occurs</sup> in the Lord's prayer and we have no
