

..and then ~~just~~ just as it was getting light, I looked ~~w~~ down ~~to~~ 3,000 feet below and saw the waters gleaming, ~~and~~ at the first light hit the waters but I couldn't ~~go~~ down there 3,000 feet, parts of ~~it~~. I went on ~~until~~ the sun ~~w~~ came ~~off~~ over the tide, and the minute ~~that~~ the sun came ~~off~~ over...~~and~~ I got in the shade of the tree ~~and~~ stepped out of the sun, because I knew that if I got thoroughly dehydrated...I ~~say there and~~ ~~lay~~ lay there... and over there I saw a place where it was broken, ..and it ~~x~~ was only about 10 minutes walk from where I sat, and figured ~~on~~ how I could ~~do~~..and then the sun came over and ~~dis~~ disappeared, and the minute the sun was gone I put my pack on my back and climbed up over these bolders and there at the top there was a little ...level that reached about a hundred yards both ways and above it ..so I looked for a way to get through that sheer strip and ..the next morning I came to this place and it was about thirty feet and a crack ...and I ~~left~~ left my pack down and managed to get my feet ~~in~~ in and make my way up, and then I ~~came~~ came down again divided the pack into two parts and pulled ...and ~~the~~ the sun came up, ~~and~~ by this time I began to be dehydrated, I had nothing to eat ~~x~~ for some little time, I took some sugar ~~out~~ out of my pack and put it in my mouth, it ~~tasted~~ tasted like sand because there was no saliva ~~x~~ whatever And I ...could get no taste of it. my glasses got dirty and had no moisture ~~what~~ whatever to clean them. I lay there through the day and felt that ~~as~~ as soon as the sun would disappear I would then ~~make~~ make an attempt to get up through that crack, I made my way up to the sides, and then I found a little trail ~~and~~ followed it, and ~~went~~ went on until it got dark and went up through the limestone and ~~then~~ got on the top of the limestone, and now I could surely ..so I lifted ~~the~~
