

show a very friendly attitude. She probably would not buy the book, but she would take an attitude toward me which made me feel refreshed and rested and feel that she felt friendly toward me. Now, I think that that is in this false cult, pretty much of venir, I think that that is a false smile often, but it is a shame that the true Christians do not have the real smile and the real congeniality more often than they do. I remember one place that I called, and the woman came to the door, and I showed her the book, and as I showed it to her, she had an awful scowl on her face, and she seemed to act as if it were <sup>a</sup> terrible nuisance, but yet she could not tell me to leave, so she listened while finished telling about the book, she-finished- and when I finished, she rather crossly said that wh- she was not interested in it, and As I looked at her face, I thought, now, these tracts that I have in my pocket, this one on the loveliness of Jesus which certainly would be a nice tract for this woman, and I pulled out a little track on the loveliness of Jesus and handed it to her, and said, I would leave this with her anyway, and she looked at it and she smiled <sup>Why,</sup> an all over. /Are you a Christian, young man? And I told her, Yes, I was. Oh, she said, I believe in the Lord, and we went on and we talked the things of the Lord and we had a ~~sw~~ sweet Christian fellowship and then we had spoken for a few minutes, and then she said, now, let me see that book again, no, indeed, I won't shoe you that book again. I said, It is a good book and I have been anxious to tell the book in order to make commission on it, but I said, I am not selling it to anybody because I am a Christian young man, and that is not the reason for your buying. I did not sell <sup>it to</sup> her again. I did not show it her again at all. I could probably have made a sale. This proves that- naturally that I am a poor salesman. But, it just impressed me that this woman who really knew the Lord, and probably in her heart she was <sup>really</sup> more/loving/a in her whole attitude than this other one. But she gives such a different impression and fail to show in her manner toward strangers the love of Ch<sup>r</sup>ist. Christianity has brought ~~þ~~ true love into the world, and it has affected every element of our soceity, and there are those who are trying to maintain this love without
