

what is after all the foundation of all missionary work. Then today <sup>like</sup> ~~this~~ you see <sup>the</sup> the third and fourth is rather specific. The second is more general. The second deals with the principles found in the ~~Old Testament~~ Old Testament that are vital for ~~the~~ understanding of the Old Testament and of all missionary work. These principles grow out of that <sup>to some extent</sup> with which we will deal today, and they are ~~basic~~ basic background for what we tried to deal with the last two days. Now, of course the subjects, Missions in the Old Testament or Missions in the Old Testament period, are much too vast to attend to them more than touch upon them in these four days, and so rather than giving a survey of the whole subject, I am intending after these two very vital foundation lectures I am intending on the third and fourth to take the two of the greatest missionaries who ever lived and study these missionaries ~~and~~ as examples in many ways for us today. So, I would like to suggest as preparatory <sup>to</sup> ~~for~~ Saturday if you can get a chance to run over first Kings eighteen and nineteen and more particularly ~~21-~~ chapter 21 ~~verses~~ <sup>first</sup> 19-24. If you feel like finishing the chapter, that is all right. Particularly ~~first--second--~~ <sup>21:</sup> Kings/verses 17-24, and finishing the chapter if you feel like it. And also II Kings 1 and 2. Those/ if you have in mind on Saturday, you would be ~~able~~ able to follow the discussion more intelligently our discussion Saturday. Then on Sunday you <sup>will</sup> ~~would~~ be able to follow much more intelligently what we have discussed, if you have in mind I Kings 2, 3:10-20, <sup>ch 4:</sup> at least the summary of what is in chapters 6, 7, 8 and 9, and then chapter 13:14-25. Now, it is not necessary for you to read these all. I will try to ~~rea-~~ remind you of what is in them ~~and~~ sufficiently to follow but I think ~~you-~~ that you will get more out of our discussion on Saturday and Sunday, if you have recently looked over those ~~particular~~ particular passages.
