

measure of the Reformation movement of the Puritan preaching of the Puritan attitudes of England in a way that no human being could ever have expected. It begins back with the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots, and that was in its results in a strange way a part of God's providential working ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ for this purpose, because in the north of England there was a town called Scr ooby, where there was a family of Brewster which had held the postmastership for some time, and the young man of the family went up to Cambridge and received a good education and was at Scr when a man named Davison came through, who was an ~~man~~ under-Secretary of State in Queen Elizabeth's government, and Davis/^{on}took a fancy to the young man, made him his secretary and his assistant. He went with Davison to the Netherlands for some time. He was with him when he became an actual Secretary of State, associate of Wal in London. Then when Queen Elizabeth decided it was necessary to put an end to the plot against her life when centred around Mary Queen of Scots and in which Mary Queen of Scots was implicated ~~and~~ and when her leaders were all urging her that something must be done about this, or one of these days one of these plots would succeed in killing Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scots would succeed her as Queen of England.. They discovered letters being smuggled out from where Mary was being kept as a prisoner showing her in these plots, Elizabeth who hated the thought of allowing the actual execution of a member of the royal family finally gave in and agreed that Mary Queen of Scots should be executed. There Wal and Davison came to her with the writ for the execution of Mary Queen of Scots and Elizabeth signed it in their presence, and then she said, "Now that is all you can possibly expect me in honour, in justice and right to do" and they took it, and they knew that she
