 have that whole list/repeated 12 different times. All the tribes were treated equal at this particular point. ~~It~~ In connection with the dedication of the altar given there was no predominance/to any one tribe or another. They all are treated equally and their offering is described in absolute full details spelled out in full detail.
 And when you are dealing with people, it is very easy to say, This person has done this wonderful thing and this person has done this that is excellent and I want to thank all the rest for all that you've done. And people walk out and think, O my, he didn't recognize what I did a bit. He didn't realize my part. And here are these 12 men who were leading the tribes in this work, who were present at the dedication, and the time is taken to describe in full detail the offerings of each one of them, and the offerings are ^{all} absolutely identical. There is no real precedents among them. Their blessings have all come from God, but they are all given equal recognition here. And I believe as you read the names of these men, you think of the thousands of Israel there, and you think of these 12 men who are the leaders of them. And you read the names of the men and his father, and most of them you have never heard of before and you will never hear of again. But all this detail is here given about the offering which they gave. And you read that you can't help but thinking, How small is human fame. How unlasting is human fame. There is this man who gave this charger of gold and these talents of silver, and the ram and the lamb and all this, and he was the headover all these thousands of people in this particular tribe. And he's just ~~got~~ got these 5 vs.
 That's absolutely all that is known about him, today. And we struggle and we push to get people to recognize what we amount to, and to get people to say what a great fellow that he is and look at all he has done. Look at what he's accomplished. And 25 yrs. ~~It~~ later the winds pass over it and the place thereof shall know if no more. But ~~if~~ God preserves the message. God preserves the full account of the offerings ~~and~~ of these 12 men, and God preserves the account of what we have done for Him. And God knows, and whether men know or not doesn't matter because they will soon forget. And if they don't, they will die and their children will know nothing about it. And you will disappear from the face of the earth. But every one of us is precious in the sight of God. And God ~~will~~ gives us
