

And if you can just get him to look at the matter carefully and fairly and see what really matters to him usually the ~~the~~ ^{ANSWER} is quite clear. That's not true in all ~~of~~ cases. Sometimes one who has had more experiences of life can think ~~of~~ ^{of} factors another one has overlooked. But ~~in~~ I would say in 3 cases out of 4 that it is get rid of our emotional involvement and to carefully consider all the relevant factors. Jas. said in Jas. 1:15 - "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God that giveth to all men liberally and upraideth not and it shall be given him." God wants us to examine the relevant factors; to have wisdom in relation to them. To ask God for this wisdom, but then he goes on. But let him ask in faith nothing wavering, for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven of the wind and tossed." God does not want us to be unstable but to consider things carefully, to learn all the factors involve. A woman said to me some yrs. ago after she had been in Peru for 6 yrs. She was back here on furlough, she and her husband. She said, The Lord called me to S. America. He didn't call me to any particular country there, but He called me to S America." Now I don't think ordinarily the Lord tells a person one particular country or continent/^{is} where He wants them. There may be special cases where He does. Usually its something we've heard something, or something has gotten into our mind giving us a feeling or a craving in a certain direction. The field is the world and God wants all of us to make our lives count for the utmost for Him in his field which is the entire world. In this particular case the woman the next 2 yrs later, she developed terrible headaches which made it impossible for her to work in S. America. They returned to this country. Her husband became a very effective missionary speaker in this country. I think it was just a feeling on her part that that particular part of the world was where she must serve God. She was letting feeling instead of letting consideration influence her. But she was anxious in making herself accomplish the most for the Lord wherever she was and it isn't where we are but what we are doing that the Lord is primarily interested in. Once in a long time there is a particular situation the Lord wants a person in and it's very vital you get to that situation. But in most cases it is not particularly important where you are but ~~the~~ it matters tremendously what you are doing where you are. That you examine the relevant factors asking the Lord for wisdom and go ahead to serve Him. And so No. 5

5. Trust God and go forward. ^{Have} have you eye -- Let the Lord guide you with His eye. Study the relevant factors, examine the circumstances and then press forward. The servant of Abraham
