and two sentences which seem to convey such very different meaning? "From the uttermost parts of the earth have we heard songs, even glory to the rightcous." There's one very definite thought. Look at how very different the rest of the verse is. "But I said my leanness, my leanness. Woe unto me. The treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously, yea the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously." How does two this fit in? Is not this giving in this 16th vs. the few thoughts that we have in the 15th vs? The thought that is stressed so much in the 15th vs., that the Word of God is going to go out even to the isles of the sea, but that also the thought there that we need to glorify God in the fires because there will be difficulties, there will be troubles, there will be disappointments. "But I said, my leanness, my leannes. Woe unto me. The treachers dealers have dealt treacherously, yea the treacherously dealers have dealt very treacherously." \bigwedge

A little less than a century age the cry was heard all over this country, The evangelization of the world in this generation. And today there are more heathen in the world than there were a century age. Sixty years ago country after country had missionaries in it who were preaching the Word of God in power and intreat in truth and leading manysouls to a knowledge of salvation. Today the successors of many of those missionaries are preaching a gospel that is not a gospel and is tearing down the faith that they formerlybuilt up and the local people are upset and disturbed about the poison that is being brought them from the very sources $\frac{1}{2}\frac{1}{2}\frac{1}{2}$ from which the blessing formerly was brought.

You are all familiar with the story of Wm Carey who just a little before the 1800 started the modern missionary movement and went to India. There in India Wm. Carey reduced the number of languages to writing. He wrote grammars. He wrote distionaries of these languages. He make translations of parts of the Bible into several of them. He did a tremendous work for God there in India. It was a few years ago we had a speaker in our chapel; and we had lunch with him afterwards, and he told about having been in India not long ago. He said there in India he had gone to the place where Wm. Carey had his grt. center. There, he said, was a great college that was formed
