

Over here people are grumbling because they have to pay 60¢ for it. Everywhere people look on this as a golden land. Isn't everybody here just happy and joyous? in the wonderful privileges they have? No. Our people are just as much as like the others as sheep without a shepherd. They are scattered abroad. They say the second most important cause of death among teen-agers in this country is suicide. Our insane asylums are full of people having psychological troubles. The psychiatrists charge maybe $25 for a half hour to talk to somebody and they say it will take you at least a year to do you much good, and yet they have all the people they can take care of who want to come and get help from them. We should be as happy as could be from a material standpoint but we should realize it isn't material things that make for happiness.

Jesus had compassion on these other countries and He has compassion on our country. He looks, I believe on each one here and hadled that person to know Him as Saviour and found that which can give you peace of heart and joy, and which makes life look altogether different than it could possibly to those who don't know Him. How wonderful are the privileges that we have here. How terrible are the miseries that 95% of the people of the world go through. Whether they live in the deprivation and suffering of Cambodia and China or whether they have the material advantages we have here in this land. Don't you think one might despair when one looks at the world and sees the conditions of today? But we read here that Jesus did not see any cause for despair. We read that Jesus saw the multitude and was moved with compassion and said, The harvest truly is plentiful but the laborers are few, pray ye therefore Jesus did not despair; Jesus prayed. He wants us not to despair but He wants us
