

They often had meetings at which the women would meet in the church and the men would meet out under the trees. Under the trees the men would give testimonies. He would hear a man say, One day a great ball of fire came down from heaven, and landed on my head and I fell to the ground and I knew God had called me into his kingdom, and ever since I've known that I was saved through all eternity.

Another man said, One time an angel appeared to me, and said to me and I knew ever since that I belonged to God and was saved through all eternity. And he said, I began to wonder, Was I really saved? I never had an experience like that! I've never had anything like that. Am I really saved.

One night, he said, he had a dream and he dreamt he died and went to heaven, and saw the people streaming in through the pearly gates, and as he came to the gate he was accosted and they said, What right have you to enter here? He said, A ball of fire fell down from heaven and hit me on the head and knocked me over and ever since I've known I was saved! Then from around the corner there stepped the devil and he said, I threw down that ball of fire; you belong to me!

Then he said he had another dream, and he dreamt he died and went to heaven and there he saw the people streaming in through the pearly gates and he stepped up to the gate and he was accosted and they said, What right have you to enter here? He said, An angel once appeared before me and said, You belong to God, you are saved from now on. Just then an angel stepped around the corner and said, I was that angel; I was like an angel of light, you belong to me, and he took him.

Then he had a third dream and again in the dream he died.
