

Russians will follow this treaty just as long as they think it to their advantage to do so. If we wish to end the Cold War along the lines now being suggested we should make other treaties, butting down preparations for war in many different lines. The United States with its open policy ~~of~~ will carry out these treaties to the letter. The Russians will carry them out to whatever extent the breaking of them might be detectable, but there is no reason to think that they will go beyond that. It is clearly stated in Communist textbooks that words are only a weapon to be used in ~~overthrowing~~ <sup>and</sup> overthrowing the non-Communist world, that a Communist is in no way bound by ~~such~~ any such treaty or promise.

3. A third ~~way-in-which~~ step which the United States may take toward bringing the Cold War to an end is to cut down the ability of our own officials to carry on counter-espionage, to open up teaching positions, and governmental positions to members of the Communist party, to ~~do~~ do away with loyalth oaths. <sup>could?</sup> to remove everything that would in any way be a bar to those who are secretly plotting the destruction of our government, or that would make it difficult for them to develop their plans to the point where they might have a chance of success. If anyone doubts ~~this~~ that this is what they would do, and are doing, let him simply read Herbert Philbrick's book, I Led Three Lives in ~~which~~ which one has a very small glimpse of the sort of activity that Russian agents are constantly carrying on in our ~~own~~ country. Do away with restrictions on travel by Americans to enemy countries, allow free passage back and forth by those who are anxious to destroy our nation, put big headlines into the papers whenever one of our military/<sup>forces</sup> makes a mistake and some civilians suffer from it, play down /and say little about the brutal atrocities of the Communists in South Vietnam and elsewhere in the world. All this the United States can do and it is an important part of this means of ending the Cold War.

4. Talk about the Cold War ~~as~~ as if it is cooling off, Encourage trade with nations under Communist dictatorship; <sup>the dictator</sup> make it easier for ~~them~~ them to hold ~~their~~ control over their peoples; cause ~~us~~ our people to relax and to become convinced that there is no real danger from Communist sources, that the only real danger
