

whether it was used in particular situations in the life of the people: the cult and possibly the particular occasion, the protocol of the court, the wisdom schools, public or private prayer, etc. In this way he discovers data which are indispensable for a proper understanding of the text in question. (p. 34)