great masses of others. In Russia a great parliament, minster elected by free may suffrage of the whole people, met imput together for one day, had one meeting. When they came together for the second meeting, they were met at the door by troups which Lenin had sent, to drive them away. And never agin was a freely elected parliament of the Russian people allowed to meet.

Lenin's brilliant mind worked out a clever system mixespinners byresserverskertesservertesserteterertestertestertestetertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertestertesterteste REMAXNERSESSMEREX of complete control from the top down by means of espionage, brain washings, recurrent purgings of the party, and frequent examination of the record of a man's whole life, to be sure that he is politically reliable. Most ingenious sustems of torture were devised to find what is in a man's heart. A wonderful system of power was developed. By means of this system of power, a little group of representing less than one percent of the Russian mp people, itself absolutely controlled by a very me small groups of leaders, holds omplete domination over many millions, in such a way that times a tiny step of deviation is enough to cause a man to be liquidated or reduced to slavery/ No restix rebellion can get a start because the very slightest expression of dissatisfaction is immediately detected and punished. It is a clever system. of power. It has been taught to men who have introduced it into other nations, while themselves remaining under its s control, and subject to the masters of the Kremlin. One mistake was made intr in the case of Tito. The blind optimists who direct the foreign policies of some of! our nations keep wishfully thinking that Mao Tse Tung will follow in the same line. It can safely be said that the masters of the Kremlin will never make another mistake of the type which they made in Yugoslavia. China is tightly bound to Moscow's control.
