

e is the normal accented vowel.

Change of e to o - Qualitative accent

Qualitative ablaut is very common in English. sing sung sung

Ablaut is a change that operates within the word

e to o often represents change from simple to causative as grow ^(gr?) live ^(lv?) go ^(g?) beal ^(br?)
(Sanskrit?)

In Indo-Eur. languages the zero grade is always found in the past participle.

vocalic n extended in Latin to in, in Germanic to un, in Greek ~~to a~~ modified to a

Satin
decem

Germanic
taihun -

Greek
δεκα

Ablaut as true in Hel as in Indo-Eur.