these two and that of nasal m or liquid changing to a Segesh in לָמָּה for לָמָּה very hard to explain — perhaps just to make difference betwee it and form from לָמָה to spend the night, now lost.

לָמָּה לָמָּה both very questionable cases.

"Anzeps" quantities ~~Original long~~ at end of the word. ~~vowels~~ that may or may not be shortened. (used in Satin poetry)

cf. Assyr. šū which might be long or shortened depending on position in sentence.

Especially true of final long vowels, even in proto-Semitic

http://www.macraelib.ibri.org/Syllabi.htm