

There is nothing in common between the two names except an T. R is a common ending at this time, especially in place names. In Siver, there is a final x.

We do not know what sort of name Sisera is

Anath is a common deity name from south Arabia to north Syria.
Found prominently in the Ras Samra tablets

Judges 4, 12

כִּי יָרַד began as an adjective, not as a noun.

כִּי יָרַד ^{אֲדָמָה} ~~אֲדָמָה~~ of word difficult.

Customary in such cases for name to come with object

as copper from Cyprus.