In El Amarna period, in addition to Semitic and Hurrian names, we find a thin layer of proto-Indo-Iranian ^(the name which later settled in Persia & India)

e.g. Pširi - dašwa
(a similar name found in Sumerian)

There are about 20 such names

(In Persian they would have become n.)

A small group, but must have had strong military organizing ability.
Similar names of kings of Mitanni.

at 2000 B.C. Palestine was settled by definitely Semitic groups.
