(Samal)

The so-called northern Judah was probably not Semitic at all.

The names of some of the Kings are definitely not Semitic.

The middle radical of the name Je'uda is not w at all, but x

Hebrew and Aramaic must have been one language not earlier than 3rd millennium.

about 721 they were definitely distinct (story of Hezekiah and Sennacherib's representative)

Near Aleppo in ~~7th~~^{9th} century about 820 an intermediate dialect was spoken, prob. nearer Heb. than Aramaic. Aleppo was the point of meeting (300 mi. N. of Jerusalem?)
