

of our not ^{the first Monday} meeting/in May. Does anybody have any real difficulty about next Monday?

stU: no, I guess not, just wanted to be sure, and get it marked down.

MacR: Yes.

stu: This might seem minor, but it will save me close to ten dollars to travel 7 hours in a coach rather than take a sleeper, I think I'll do that, so I may not be too wide awake in class but I expect to be here.

MacR: You expect to be.

stu: yes, and that would be the ~~ne~~ only thing about next Monday.

MacR: yes. well, now of course the following Monday, the 5th of May, Mr. Budge can't be here at all. (several people talking) (5 3/4) I mean otherwise, we could say which of these two shall we skip but if you can be here, perhaps we'll take (6) you won't get the most out of it, but you'll get a good bit out of it.

stu: I have that meeting, whatever it is, ~~make that deal~~ (6 1/4)

MacR: You cancelled two meetings?

stu: (6 1/4)

MacR: Oh, my. (stu: well, anyway (6 1/4))

Yes, well now the suggestion was made last time that~~y~~ we go over into Zechariah, look into it a bit. (student: from the very beginning?) No, from the last past. I don't know anything at all about the last part (several people talking . 6 1/2) chapter 9 on. And it's just a question of how much more time we want to spend on this part of Isaiah, before we do it, and how thoroughly we want to do it. I think it's very important to do it sometime.

stu: I'd appreciate having the general drift of it fixed. (MacR: yes.)

stu: (7) you don't know hardly where to fix it.
