

control over to others:

If there is a way in which the Sem^o can be ^{RT} carried on that it will continue ^{the} to maintain/~~its~~ high ideals of scholarship and of absolute loyalty to God's Word that it has followed these thirty-four years, it would indeed be a pleasure to turn over the helm to someone else. After having invested thirty-four years of my life in its upbuilding and development it is simply impossible for me to act as if it meant nothing to me, ^{even} ~~altogether~~ aside from the matter of ~~desire~~ desiring that my own son should receive a training such as others have received.

If the administration were not in the hands of someone with a ~~Ph.D. degree~~ ~~an~~ earned doctor's degree, with at least five years of experience in seminary administration, and with complete loyalty to the ideals that we have endeavored to ~~maintain~~ ^{maintain} ~~have been before us, a period of~~ maintain, it is hard to say what might happen. I would like to ~~if~~ know what suggestions you have in mind for this. If Charlie Woodbridge were twenty years younger and so had the energy (both) (not clear) (quote?) to go with his other gifts, I would not hesitate long about ~~turning~~ turning over the control to him. ~~He~~ He has been a seminary administrator for five years. He has an earned doctor's degree, and he has shown evidenced his loyalty to all in which we believe. Since he has not had direct contact with our situation, and since he is sometimes a bit apt to jump to conclusions before he has investigated a matter thoroughly, I am quite sure what would happen if he could take over at once. During the first six
