

time at a particular standard. I never have been felt like thinking of ~~REXX~~ a course as a race to be run to see what you could do could be done in ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ a certain length of time, but as a matter of giving a person a certain amount of knowledge, and while I have always been very strict that they really had gotten the knowledge before I would give them credit, I have ~~IN~~ tended to overlook minor points of precise following details of time when things are done, etc. This is one of the matters of procedure on which it is nice now to be retired from administration and not to ~~HAVE~~ have to either express disagreement with others who have votes, or even to know what they are doing in these regards, respects, especially when, on all the big points of viewpoints ~~AND~~ and real important stance I agree thoroughly with them--even though on these points of procedure I sometimes get become very irritated.

That's the end of this discussion of Dr. Allis, done very hastily and with a mind that forgets things very easily, and makes me feel all the more that if these reminiscences are ever to be done they must be done soon before my mind deteriorates still further.
