

term for that, and it is used frequently in the Scriptures, to describe the return of Christ, His appearing, looking forward and longing for the appearing of Christ. And Paul stresses it in his first and last epistles, and touches upon it at times in between. Peter stresses it. John stresses it. It is a constant thought of the New Testament, Christ is coming back, look for our ^ASaviour to return. Well now, why so much stress upon it, if it is way way off. There is a long period interspersed. It is a great stress. We should be ready at anytime, we know not what time the Lord is coming. We are told that over and over and over. What's the point of being ready at anytime, if we have to wait until the kingdom gradually covers the earth, and is over the earth for awhile, before His coming. It seems that we can't understand so much ~~stress~~ stress on this great New Testament, if it is way way off in the future. Yes? (Student). Yes, well, I would have to look at the particular ~~perio~~ passage. There are various senses that it could be. The Lord is always with us. He sees what we are doing. He is interested in us. He is in our hearts. He is at hand in that sense. Then of course, there could be in a sense that we have to go out and witness for Him. We don't know when He may come. It may be very soon. He is at hand in the sense that we have no right to say, that he may not come right now. But on the other hand we don't know. He might come. Now which of the two senses it is used in, I don't particularly see the (15). (Student). Philipians 4:5.

Let your moderation be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand. Be careful for nothing. Let your moderation be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand. I'm not sure what he means here. I think that he could mean, let your moderation be known unto all men. Jesus Christ is here in your heart. He wants you to be conformed to his image. He is right with you. Let people see him in you. The lord is at hand. It could mean that. On the other hand, it could mean, let your moderation be known unto all men. Jesus Christ is coming back. We don't know how soon. He might come very soon. Don't ~~mixed~~ get mixed up in a whole lot of earthly projects which would tie you down, but don't worry about anything, but keep your eyes on him, so such that whenever he comes, he will find you ready. Now of which of the two, I'm
