

4. References for or against Homer's accuracy as to the type of institutions.

Wace and Stubbings, Companion to Homer, p. 541 Argues for accuracy re sea communications

3.41-9<sup>2</sup> xx-6a Kirk, G.S., "Objective Dating Criteria in Homer" p.178 Cremation very rare in Mycenaean times but normal means of disposal of dead in Homer's "rare assumptions" (not exact quote - see xx6a for quote)

3.41-17<sup>7</sup> xx-12d Carpenter, Rhys, Folk Tale Fiction and Saga in the Homeric Epics. p. 52 Homer . . . knew nothing of the preclassical feudal distinction between chief-tain and commoners, which is reflected in the heavily protected castle surrounded by an undefended settlement at Mycenae and Tiryns.

3.41-17<sup>4</sup> xx-12f Ibid p.32 To an Ionian poet living in the ninth or eighth cr