

August 21, 1957

Dear Doctor M^c Rae:

Will you take time to help me in something important?

I begin teaching a public High School course in General Language soon.

The matter of language origin comes up, of course.

The author calls language "man's greatest achievement".

Of course I do not intend to treat this phase of the subject in detail; neither do I want to omit it.

In all my teaching I do