

and receiving their nourishment from ~~in~~ Him. Members of that body, put into it by the Holy Spirit and never possible to be free from it. ~~They~~

There are few, ~~is~~ if any other, ~~is~~ organizations than the Roman Catholic Church which would not admit that there is a distinction between the visible church and the church invisible. And that the church invisible, the church universal is the eternal body/ And all those who are in this eternal body have been saved through the death of Christ. They are all members of this, and no one else.....(end of record)

Record 15

The Church of Rome holds that if a person, ~~that is the Church of Rome~~ holds that there are people outside of their organization that are saved. They definitely hold that. They do not hold that only members of the church of Rome are saved. They hold, for instance, very definitely, that what they would call heretical baptism is valid. They hold that very strongly. If there were no salvation outside the church, there would be no sense in it.

(question) A monseignor told me in Washington, two years ago, he said, if you know that the Roman Catholic ~~is~~ church is the true church, and you refuse to join it, you cannot be ~~saved~~ saved. But if you do not know that it is the true church, you may be saved, even though you refuse to join it. Well, I said, I don't quite agree with you. I said that anybody who is convinced that the Roman Catholic church is the true church ~~of~~ of Christ, and simply refuses to join it, I don't think he could be saved, and certainly. It is only those who are outside ~~of~~ of it, and ~~know~~ refuse to join it. though they know it is the true church, who are lost on that ground. Of course, they would hold that there were other grounds. They have so ~~encrusted~~ ^{encrusted} the Scriptural teaching of salvation with their tradition that actually they have reached a situation where many different factors enter into salvation. And nobody could tell in advance who would be saved. And when you think of all the thousand and thousand of masses that the pope has to have said for him, in order to get him out of purgatory, and you wonder how any Roman Catholic would.....(2½)

Well, that we look at more later. But at this point, the visible church,
